REPORT OF EXAMINATION OF
Mine No. 2,
The Union Pacific Coal Co.,
Hanna, Wyoming.
January 23rd, 1908.

D. M. Elias,
Inspector.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:.

On the 23rd day of January, 1908, I made my first annual examination of No. 2 Mine, the property of the Union Pacific Coal Co., located at Hanna, Wyo. Accompanied by Sup't Alex Briggs and Mine Foreman Alf Dodds, I entered the mine at manway and went down to #2 entry to face. Measured the air in last crosscut which was 6500 cu. ft. Men working in this entry 52, and horses 3. Visited a number of working places on my return to the manway, and went ~~de~~ down to 3 entry to face. Measured the air in last crosscut and found 3840 cu. ft., for 34 men and 4 horses. After a visit to some of the rooms, returned to manway and down to 4 entry to face. The air was measured in last crosscut, which was 5390 cu. ft. for 44 men and 3 horses. Some of the rooms were visited, returned and went down to #5 entry to face. Air was measured in the last crosscut and found 5760 cu. ft. for 44 men and 2 horses. Visited working places, returned to the slope and down to 7 entry to face. Just entrymen are working in this entry, which is not far from the slope. The air is a little weak. Returned to slope and up to 6 entry. This is a single entry and is not being driven. But few rooms are working and the arrangement is not the best for ventilation. Returned to the surface. Took air measurements in the return and intakes.

The ventilation is very good in all the entries except as above stated. The aircourses should be hurried along to connect with #7 entry. Good results cannot be obtained by carrying air so far with brattice. The entries are all in a good and damp condition except #5 entry.

Hanna, Wyo., July 9th, 1908.

Report of Committee Appointed to Decide on the Opening of East Side of No. One Mine.

That an opening some two feet square be made on the Southwest corner of the fan shaft and a hole some three feet square in the lumber stopping on the slope and the fan started up slowly, so that a clearance can be made along the rib over the cave so that material can be carried to erect a stopping in the slope below the cross-cut leading to the fan. A stopping to be built in the first cross-cut leading to the North side manway; also a stopping across the return airway below the first cross-cut. The cross-cuts in which these first stoppings are placed to be rebuilt with lawful stoppings.

Safety lamps to be used only. All workmen to be searched when necessary, for matches and pipes. All safety lamps to be inspected and locked by a competent person.

We suggest that in opening up the slope arrangements be made to keep visitors from approaching the slope, and that an officer of the law be stationed there to maintain order.
